CANADIAN BUSINESS EXECUTIVES ENDORSE NEW PEACE EFFORTS

Chamber of Commerce Convention Orders Messages Sent to Premier Chamberlain and President Roosevelt—Delegates Cheer Decision—Assembly Opened With Annual Address

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Sept. 28 (P).—Cheering representatives of 20,000 Canadian businessmen assembled at the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention today endorsed efforts of Prime Minister Chamberlain of England and President Roosevelt of United States to keep peace in tense Europe.

The 200 delegates from coast to coast ordered messages sent to the two statesmen commending their work for peace. The suggestion that the executive send a message to Great Britain's Prime Minister, expressing our strongest commendation and support for his tremendous effort for world peace, brought representatives to their feet amid prolonged applause.

The message read: "The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, representing Canadian business men from the Atlantic to the Pacific, strongly endorse and support your untiring and determined efforts for maintaining the peace of the world."

Another display of enthusiasm greeted the proposal to send a message to President Roosevelt, conveying our appreciation for his efforts for peace, particularly his second appeal to Hitler yesterday.

PEOPLE'S ADDRESS
A plea for a greater national outlook and less "sectional jealousy" in Canada was voiced by George C. McDonald, of Montreal, in his presidential address to the convention.

The head of the organization of 30,000 business men suggested the "central authority" must have the power to create a pool from the surplus resources of one section to aid unfortunate sections if the true concept of Confederation is to be realized.

"The Confederation bargain implied that each should exercise the

During the forenoon delegates dealt with problems of rural and consolidated school districts, suggesting several amendments to the Public School Act to provide for separate classification of union rural school districts, and for election of trustees to such districts in the same manner as pertains in municipal school districts.

The trustees also will ask the Government to amend the Motor Vehicle Act to permit free registration of school buses.

Investigation into the relationship between poor examination marks and weak eyesight will be suggested to the Department of Education.

MANITOBA FOREST FIRE SPREADING

Small Town Saved but Flames Creeping Close to Pine Timber Stands

ELMA, Man., Sept. 28 (P).—More than 300 fire fighters, directed by Provincial Natural Resources Department men, worked tirelessly today to check advance of fires creeping close to thousands of square feet of pine timber stands in northeast corner of Sandilands Forest Reserve, east of Winnipeg.

Fires, fanned by stiff winds yesterday, swept over an area forty miles long and thirty-five miles wide, beginning near Vivian, Man., thirty-one miles east of Winnipeg, and extending east to Renne, Man. Several farmers in the Elma district, fifty-five miles east of Winnipeg, reported substantial loss. The town of Elma, with 300 population, was saved yesterday when fires near the town were brought under control.

MUSSOLINI ARRIVES AT BRENNER PASS

BRENNER PASS, Germany, Sept. 28 (P).—Premier Mussolini and Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, arrived here at 6:08 a.m. (P.M.T. Wednesday) on their way to the Munich four-power conference. They were greeted by Rudolf Hess, Adolf Hitler's deputy in party affairs.

Much Jubilation as News of Conference Received in London

Turn for Better in European Situation Brings Sudden Break in Uneasiness That Had Gripped United Kingdom Faced With Conflict

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The electrifying news of tomorrow's four-power conference at Munich and twenty-four-hour postponement of German mobilization was received in the heart of the Empire with almost as much jubilation as would have been loosed by an armistice after an actual outbreak of hostilities.

The Stock Exchange was closed when the "cherry turn" in events came, but in after-hour trading the optimism of financial circles was reflected in upward bounding prices.

Before Mr. Chamberlain made his announcement, the United Kingdom had been gripped with an uneasiness reminiscent of the fatal days of 1914.

ARRANGEMENT OF FOUR-POWER CONFERENCE RENEWS HOPE FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

Seattle Men in Lucky Escape as Airplane Crashes

SEATTLE, Sept. 28 (P).—Three Seattle men escaped with only cuts and bruises after their small cabin plane nosed over on its back in making an emergency landing in a vineyard near Olney in Kitsap County tonight. In the plane were Lou Kessler, manager of the 40 and 8 Club, and George C. Humphries and Harold Rathjens, pilots. The plane was damaged badly.

Conservative Leader To Be Nominated

HON. R. J. MANION

NATIONAL Conservative Leader, who has accepted an invitation to contest the London, Ont., by-election on November 14, Prime Minister Mackenzie King has urged the London electors to give Dr. Manion the seat by acclamation, but it is possible that he will face opposition from a C.C.F. candidate.

BERLIN SEES BRIGHT SIDE

Hitler's Invitation Termed Last Effort to Accomplish Peaceful Cession

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (P).—The peace conference at Munich tomorrow, to be attended by the senior statesmen of four leading European Powers, was semi-officially described tonight as Reichsfuehrer Hitler's last effort to accomplish peaceful cession of Sudetenland.

Reliable sources said Hitler would meet Mussolini, already en route to Munich, at Brenner Pass, historic gateway between Italy and now German Austria, and accompany II Duce to Munich.

IMMEDIATE RESPONSE

Mr. Chamberlain drew Mussolini into the circle of peacemakers by urging II Duce to use his influence with Hitler against immediate cession of Europe. His peace plea brought response at once from Mussolini, who got in touch with the Nazi Reichsfuehrer by telephone. A personal message, a few hours later, from President Roosevelt added further urging that Mussolini aid in settlement of the German-Czechoslovak controversy.

A vast crowd cheered as Mussolini left Rome by train with Count Ciano, his Foreign Minister and son-in-law.

Announcement of the Munich meeting brought joy to the German public, and hope that Hitler would obtain Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia without bloodshed.

FORESEES SETTLEMENT

Propaganda Minister Goebbels told a Berlin throng, late today, he foresaw a peaceful solution of the dispute "within a few days." Goebbels, usually given to oratorical flights, usually given to oratorical flights.

BORDER FIGHTS LESS FREQUENT

Clashes Continue Between Sudetens and Czechs—German Army in Rear

SCHIRNDING, Germany (at the Czechoslovak frontier) Sept. 28 (P).—Heavy exchanges of shots between Sudeten Germans and Czechoslovak troops took place today before the Czech first line of defence, three miles west of Eger.

Their cross-fire closed the Eger-Schirnding Road and cut off even pedestrian traffic over the frontier in this region.

Transportation service generally over the entire German-Czechoslovak frontier already had been suspended as a result of the Czechoslovak general mobilization last week.

As Czech troops fell back at a number of points to more strategic positions to be ready if the German army should attack, Sudeten forces moved up, occupying additional hamlets.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT

The Sudetens also began setting up provisional civil government in the strip they have occupied along the frontier.

They established their own frontier service in the customs house at Muhlbach, abandoned by the Czechs last week after it had been attacked. German army troops scrupulously refrained from setting foot on Czechoslovak soil, but the Sudetens moved freely across the border.

Fighting between the Sudetens and Czech troops was generally diminishing as both sides awaited the expiration of Chancellor Hitler's ultimatum to Czechoslovakia on Saturday.

POPE BROADCASTS TODAY

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 28 (P).—Pope Pius is to broadcast to the world tomorrow a pastoral message for peace. The broadcast is to start at 6:30 p.m. Rome time (9:30 a.m. P.S.T.).

Dramatic Announcement Bringing Wild Enthusiasm Terminates Prime Minister's Speech in the House of Commons Recounting Unrelenting Efforts to Solve Czech-German Crisis

Hitler Shows Conciliation In Letter to Chamberlain

HESTON AIRPORT, LONDON, Sept. 29 (P).—Prime Minister Chamberlain departed at 8:35 (11:35 p.m. P.S.T.) today for Munich and a conference with Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Daladier of France.

Most of the Cabinet and a large crowd cheered the Prime Minister from the airport. Standing outside his plane the Premier said: "When I was a little boy I used to repeat, 'If at first, you don't succeed, try, try, try again.' That's what I'm doing."

LONDON, Sept. 28 (P).—A few short sentences by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons today lifted this country—and the Empire—from the depths of despair and gave renewed hope that Europe may avoid war.

To the packed House, resigned to hear him declare Great Britain was standing on the brink of war, with the fleet mobilized and anti-aircraft guns mounted along the Thames Embankment, Mr. Chamberlain announced a postponement, perhaps the end of the crisis.

FLYING TO MUNICH

At 7:30 a.m. tomorrow, the Prime Minister will fly to Munich for a four-power conference between Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy in a supreme effort to save the peace of Europe.

Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Premier Daladier will sit around the conference table and try to settle the Czech-German stalemate over the Sudeten territory which is threatening to involve the world in war.

Mr. Chamberlain, who never strives at dramatics, never indulges in histrionics, made his announcement amid unrestrained jubilation. He did it in the most dramatic way possible, by an accident of time. Here was the scene:

WOULD CEDE SUDETENLAND

NOTE IS PASSED

Suddenly Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, was called from the Peers' Gallery. A few minutes later a note was passed along the Treasury bench to the Prime Minister, who took it from Sir John Simon. He glanced at it and this is what he told the House:

CHURCHES ARE IN AGREEMENT

United Concedes Presbyterian Claim to Title—Ends Long Dispute

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (P).—Ending a difference that has existed for thirteen years, the eighth general council of the United Church of Canada today endorsed an agreement with the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Under the agreement the United Church concedes Presbyterian claims to use of the title "the Presbyterian Church in Canada."

The agreement reached jointly by representatives of the two churches was opposed by only two commissioners. Each church by the terms of the agreement acknowledges a claim of continuity has been, and still is, made by the other. Both churches agree to approach together the Federal Parliament, and the Provincial Legislatures, as and when the Presbyterian Church desires, for an amendment to the United Church of Canada Act passed after the union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists in 1925.

The final clause of the agreement reads: "That both churches will seek to dwell together in mutual understanding, composing their differences upon material things, as far as in them lies, by consultation one with the other, and, where possible, without recourse to the civil courts, seeking fellowship in all good works for the Kingdom of God."

H. R. PLOMMER TO HEAD COLLIERIES

Vancouver Official of Company Appointed to Succeed Late Colonel C. W. Villiers

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (P).—H. R. Plommer, of Vancouver, has been appointed general manager of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, to succeed the late Col. C. W. Villiers.

Notice of the appointment was made here tonight by J. A. Boyd, president of the company. Plommer has been manager of Vancouver Island Coal, Limited, for the past eight years, as well as general sales manager in Vancouver for the Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Corporation.

EARLY BUILDER OF MOTOR CAR DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (P).—Charles E. Duryea, seventy-six, widely credited as the man who invented North America's first gasoline buggy and known as the "father of the automobile," died today. Whether Duryea or Elwood Haynes was the "first" builder of a gasoline automobile, has been a subject of controversy. Duryea built cars from 1892 until 1914.

GERMAN SHIP FLEES FROM PORT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 28 (P).—The United States coast guard cutter Unaga gave chase today to the German freighter, Frida Horn, which suddenly sailed from this port half an hour after the morning 10. The freighter was reported to have received orders not to be in a United States port should war break out. The freighter left behind five passengers who had landed for breakfast, and violated port regulations requiring clearance papers before departure.

Esquimalt Students Receive Awards at Annual Prize-Giving

High School and Lampson Street Pupils Are Recipients of Presentations—Major A. A. Warder, Chairman, Welcomed Parents and Guests

STUDENTS of Esquimalt High School and the Lampson Street School parents and guests gathered in the auditorium of the latter institution yesterday afternoon for the annual prize-giving ceremonies. Special awards, prizes for proficiency and progress and entrance class certificates were distributed. Major A. A. Warder, chairman of the municipal school board, was chairman.

Guests of honor were welcomed by the chairman, on behalf of the school board, and H. W. Creelman, school principal. He mentioned the changes in the school staffs and announced the appointment of a permanent domestic science teacher. Recreation training had been added to the curriculum this year, the chairman said, in requesting the students to give it their full support.

Reeve Alexander Lockley directed his remarks largely towards the school children. He said the students did not know how lucky they were to be living in this favored position in Canada. He stated that in England the school children had to be prepared to do gas masks at a moment's notice and were confronted with many dangers from the air.

SHOULD BE APPRECIATIVE
"When we're out of all that, we should be more appreciative, which should make us more ambitious to do something for this wonderful country of ours," the reeve said. He spoke of the new curriculum, mentioning that it would take a little time for the students to adjust themselves to it. Reeve Lockley also presented the school board trustee Mrs. Sarah King pressented fifty successful entrance class students with their certificates. Margaret Claydon was the recipient of the Women's Institute medal for ranking first in proficiency. Mrs. E. Garrett made the presentation for ranking second in proficiency. Joan Bradley received the I.O.D.E. prize from Mrs. G. P. Clarke, regent of the Esquimalt Chapter.

Elmer V. Finland, M.P.P. for Esquimalt, presented a special prize for proficiency and exceptional progress to Billy McKay. Mr. Finland reiterated the statements of Reeve Lockley that the school children were fortunate to be living in Canada, far from the threat of war.

WINS BURSARY
Marian Robinson, who secured the highest average of any junior matriculation student in Greater Victoria with 84.1 per cent, was awarded the Women's Canadian Club bursary of $100. Mrs. H. L. Campbell, president of the organization, congratulated the young student, in making the presentation. Miss Robinson also received a large high school graduation certificate from H. Gamble, school inspector.

School board prizes to high school students were presented by Trustee Major George Siman. Proficiency prizes were awarded to Toshi Takata.

Pioneer Community Has Splendid Fair

The seventeenth annual Fall Fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Association, held yesterday at Saanichton, produced a fine display of flowers, vegetables, fruits and field crops, some of which can be seen in the above picture of the interior of the main hall, with the Victoria Rotary Club garden contest for boys and girls under eighteen years, filling the entire stage. Other interesting displays filled tables unseen in the picture, as well as the balconies; and livestock exhibits, children's sports, Highland dancing, sheepdog trials, and many other attractions held the interest of the large crowd that filled the grounds.

Grade IX: Bill Turner, Grade X: Claire Cresine, Grade XI: and Marian Robinson, Grade XII: awards for progress went to Florence Harper, Grade IX; Arthur Tanis, Grade X; Kenzie Takata, Grade XI; and Lorne McCulloch, Grade XII.

SCHOOL BOARD PRIZES
Students receiving awards from Reeve Lockley were Margaret Claydon, English; Shirley Okenden, social studies and science; George Takata, mathematics; Norman McPherson, diligence; Ian Harris, deportment and co-operation; and Gordon Creed and Alfred Jenkins, school sports.

Dorothy Jones was the recipient of a special prize from Trustee J. Christensen for English and French studies.

Interspersing the programme were entertainment features by the school children. Hazel Brundson and Gwen Emerson appeared in a tap dance; Tom Williamson, Ernest Wyatt and Alex Joskovic formed a mouth organ trio, and Robin Wood played piano solo. The afternoon was concluded with the serving of refreshments.

HOPE IS RENEWED FOR SETTLEMENT

one to Hitler, one to Mussolini. Today he received the replies. Mussolini agreed to participate in a four-power conference. Hitler invited the conference to meet at Munich.

Mr. Chamberlain's dramatic announcement was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. Members cheered. They waved their order papers. They laughed almost hysterically.

A few minutes later the glad tidings had percolated through the streets. Men and women, whose faces had been drawn the last few days, gathered happily in small groups to discuss the news which amounted to a national reprieve.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke to a House crowded to overflowing. Members standing, others sitting on the floor and in the aisles.

CHRONOLOGICAL ACCOUNT
The first part of the speech was a chronological account of the crisis, dating back to July.

Factually, the Prime Minister dealt with the Anglo-French plan, his two previous conferences with Hitler, Viscount Runciman's efforts, the German demands, the many Cabinet meetings at 10 Downing Street.

Then came Mr. Chamberlain's dramatic announcement of his "last appeal." At first, the House, which had assembled in the belief war was almost inevitable this week, did not grasp the full meaning.

The House seemed to have made up its mind that appeals to Hitler were useless. Judging by the Prime Minister's earlier experiences which he had been relating. Everywhere was an air of resigned apprehension, a "what's the use" attitude.

AGREES TO POSTPONE
"Herr Hitler has agreed to postpone mobilization twenty-four hours," suddenly announced that low voice after the Prime Minister had glanced over the note handed to him. There were one or two laughs from the Opposition benches.

"Herr Hitler has invited me to meet him at Munich tomorrow," broke in the low voice.

It was as if a rope had been thrown to a drowning man. The Members seemed to be doubting their ears at the sudden change from the gloomy tale of past rebuffs and failures to one of hope and renewed confidence.

Still in the same low, grave voice Mr. Chamberlain referred to the telegram to Mussolini and to the Duke's acceptance. By this time Members began to realize they were listening to one of the most momentous announcements of post-war history.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED
Cheers began to punctuate his words. Confidence replaced the despair in many faces. The Prime Minister went on. His reference to Hitler's invitation for him to confer at Munich brought prolonged cheers. But when he added "Mussolini and Daladier also had been included practically the whole House rose as one man.

"Signor Mussolini has accepted and there is no doubt that M. Daladier will also accept," came that low-pitched voice, while members and those in the Press gallery shouted and waved papers.

"I need not say what my answer will be," he continued, while the shout of "Thank God," came from many quarters of the House. The cheering drowned out Mr. Chamberlain's voice and it was a minute or two before he could continue.

HISTORICAL SCENE
Pent-up emotions—the House had not for anything, including war—broke loose. Along with the cheers, there were tears in many eyes. For staid Westminster the scene was hysterical. Finally the Prime Minister was able to continue.

"There can be no member of this House who did not feel his heart leap when he heard the crisis had been once more postponed and how much to be more opportunity to try by reason and goodwill and discussion, to find a solution of a problem which is already within sight of settlement."

"I cannot say any more. I hope the House will release me now to go and see what I can make of this last effort and perhaps, in view of this new development, this debate might be adjourned for a few days. Then, perhaps, we may meet in happier circumstances."

WARM DEMONSTRATION
The low voice stopped. Mr. Chamberlain took his seat on the Treasury bench. But the cheering grew and grew. Members crowded around him. They shook his hand. They wished him God-speed and success at Munich. Their faces beamed at the warmth of this demonstration the Prime Minister's composure broke. The muscles of his face twitched. He turned to Sir John Simon and both had tears in their eyes.

Only with great effort could the Prime Minister control himself as scores of members shook his hand. An unforgettable moment of a tired man of nearly seventy being cheered on his way in his relentless search for peace by the grateful audience, perhaps even by the exaltation, of his deliciously happy colleagues.

HOPE FOR SUCCESS
Judging by Hitler's latest communication to Mr. Chamberlain there is some hope for success in the conference. In the letter the Prime Minister received late last night, Hitler showed more conciliation than had been apparent in weeks.

For one thing Hitler agrees not to move his troops beyond the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia. He also agrees that the plebiscite in other areas enumerated in the German memorandum would be carried out with a free vote. He also agrees to join in an international guarantee for the remainder of Czechoslovakia once minority questions were settled.

The threatened victim of the alleged "war scare" was the Czechoslovakia will be absent from the Munich council table, through her Minister to Britain, Jan Masaryk quickly protested to Mr. Chamberlain against that fact. Also missing will be Soviet Russia, whose millions of manpower had been counted on to help the victim.

PREPARATIONS PROCEED
Preparations measure went on in the House.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!
What do you eat for breakfast? A hot, moist, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? You are constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's cereal for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B. Eat this crunchy, toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in London, Ont. Sold by every grocer.

Britain and France, however, pending concrete steps toward some peaceful solution. France called additional reserves to swell the 200,000 she already has under arms, the decision being announced after the Munich invitation was accepted. Earlier in the day Britain's mobilization of the Royal Navy was formally approved in a decree signed by the King.

It was disclosed for the first time that Hitler previously had told Mr. Chamberlain's closest adviser, Sir Horace Wilson, that Germany would mobilize at 2 p.m. today for enforcement of Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia. On this point Mr. Chamberlain said:

"In reply to a message to Signor Mussolini, I was informed that instructions had been sent to the Italian ambassador in Berlin to see Von Ribbentrop (German Foreign Minister) at once to say that, while Italy would fulfill completely her pledges to stand by Germany, in view of the great importance of a request made by His Majesty's Government, Signor Mussolini hoped Herr Hitler would see his way to postpone action which the Chancellor had told Sir Horace Wilson was to be taken at 2 o'clock today—for at least twenty-four hours—to allow him (Mussolini) to re-examine the situation and find a peaceful solution."

MUSSOLINI INTERVENED
That meant that Mussolini, upon British urging, had intervened to Hitler to postpone German mobilization.

The Prime Minister then went on to tell of the Munich invitation. He paid high tribute to the Italian Premier.

"Whatever views we may have had about Signor Mussolini in the past," he said, "I believe everyone will welcome his gesture."

"He has been willing to work with us, but that is not all. Here cheers interrupted the Prime Minister."

When Mr. Chamberlain had finished speaking, the leader of the Labour Opposition, Clement Attlee, rose to say: "When the House assembles the war clouds may have lifted." Other Opposition members, Sir Archibald Sinclair, George Lansbury and James Maxton, joined in wishing Mr. Chamberlain God-speed and good luck.

In the demonstration Queen Mary, the Duchess of Kent and Mrs. Chamberlain had tears of joy in their eyes.

BEDLAM IN HOUSE
Usually stern attendants in the Commons gave up any attempt to preserve order as the bedlam increased. One old parliamentarian said there had never been such a demonstration in the House.

Chancellor Hitler's refusal yesterday of Prime Minister Chamberlain's request for a conference between German and Czechoslovakian diplomats as a means of peacefully transferring control of the Sudeten area was accompanied by an offer to guarantee safety of the rest of the Czech nation and a plebiscite to finally delineate boundaries.

This was revealed in the "white paper" published here today containing a record of the British Prime Minister's efforts of the past week to prevent an outbreak of war in Europe.

"Final settlement of the Sudeten German problem in accordance with my proposals will be made dependent not on a unilateral German decision or on German measures of force, but rather on the one hand, on a free vote under no outside influence, and on the other hand to a very wide degree on German-Czech agreement on matters of detail to be reached subsequently," Hitler wrote.

SEASON'S WORK BEING PLANNED

Toronto Conservatory Club Hears Members' Reports Of Summer Studies

The Toronto Conservatory Club's opening meeting of the 1938-1939 season took place at the home of the president, Mrs. George Phillips, St. David Street, on Monday evening. An enthusiastic spirit marked the occasion, and the president voiced the sentiment of the members by saying that the club felt the need of branching out into even more ambitious things than last season.

The November meeting being the first anniversary of the club, it was decided, in order to enable more members to attend, to change the date to Tuesday, November 15, instead of the date scheduled previously. At this meeting reports will be given and suggestions welcomed for the winter's programme.

At this week's meeting two interesting talks were given by members. Mrs. Marion MacGovern, who was a member of Alberto Guerrero's class at the Toronto Conservatory for three weeks, and Miss Gwen Harper, who attended music classes at the University of Washington for fourteen weeks. Mrs. MacGovern spoke of the demonstration given at the conservatory of the new harpsichord put out by the Heintzman Company, and of Reginald Stewart's promenade concerts.

Miss Harper reported having enjoyed meeting 500 students from all parts of the continent, and spoke of the value of the courses in theoretical and practical work under a staff of keen professors. She concluded her reference to the Summer course by playing the B Major Schumann "Romance" which she had broadcast from Seattle during the Summer.

The president read excerpts from these being the result of an expressed wish of the great Belgian violinist, Eugene Ysaie.

NEW CHURCH COMPLETED

Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, Dedicates Courtenay Edifice

A ceremony of much interest to the Catholic community of Courtenay and Cumberland districts took place on Sunday when Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, dedicated the recently-completed Church of Canadian Martyrs at the former place. A congregation of about 350 attended the actual ceremonies.

Bishop Cody reached Courtenay on Saturday afternoon, being welcomed on arrival by Rev. Father Carl T. Albury and a delegation of fifty parishioners. After making a brief visit to the church, he went to Comox to spend the night as the guest of Monsignor Beaton, V.G. On Sunday at 4 p.m., vested with cope and mitre and holding a crozier, he presided at the Blessing of the Church, assisting priests being Rev. Lewis McLellan, pastor of Nanaimo, who acted as deacon; Rev. Alec McLellan, pastor of Ladysmith, as subdeacon; Rev. Geoffrey Penfold, Victoria, was M.C. and present in the sanctuary was Rt. Rev. Monsignor Ronald Beaton, V.G., assisted by Rev. John Knox, S.J., and Rev. W. G. Smith, Port Alberni, chaplains; also Mayor Stephens and members of his council; Sisters of St. Ann from Campbell River, Sisters of St. Joseph from Comox Hospital, and members of the Catholic Youth organization from Port Alberni.

PROCESSION HELD
The Bishop first blessed the exterior of the church, being followed into the church by the throng of onlookers and those who composed the procession. The interior of the building was then blessed in similar fashion and the edifice dedicated to the Canadian Martyrs.

The sermon followed, the Bishop being the preacher. He congratulated the architect, Mr. Hagarty, and expressed his gratification that another sanctuary lamp had been lighted in the diocese. Pontifical benediction and the blessed sacrament concluded the services, during which Rev. Father Albury directed the choir, with Mrs. Charles McIver at the organ.

BANQUET LATER
Under the auspices of the local C.Y.O., a banquet followed, being held in the Native Sons' Hall. Father Albury acted as toastmaster, and among the speakers were the Mayor, who expressed greetings; Mr. Craven, who carried greetings from Victoria; Father L. McLellan and Father Smith, who extended greetings from Nanaimo and Port Alberni, respectively; Dr. Briggs, who spoke on behalf of the building committee; W. Hagarty, who spoke on behalf of the workers and, finally, Father John Knox and Bishop Cody. Howard Slesor, Courtenay, was the winner of the radio.

The ceremonies concluded on Monday with the patronal feast of the church, there being three masses—one at 6:30 a.m. by the parish priest, one at 7:30 by Bishop Cody, assisted by Fathers Albury and Penfold as chaplains, and one at 8:15 by the bishop's secretary.

AT MUNICH TODAY

When the history of the Sudeten crisis is written no name will stand out in its pages with more prominent significance than that of Mr. Neville Chamberlain. The course he has pursued, and continues to pursue, has been one of steady, unflinching courage, of poise and fortitude, and he sees now, possibly within measurable distance, the goal of peace taking shape on the troubled horizon. Berthegaden, Godesberg, and now Munich, are the landmarks on the road he has traveled, a road on which throughout he has stooped to conquer.

Today at Munich Premier Chamberlain, Daladier, Mussolini and Herr Hitler will meet to discuss the settlement of the Sudeten problem and to take up the question of the future of minorities in the Central European States. This historic conference owes its inception to Great Britain's Prime Minister, who in an eleventh hour effort to promote peace asked Signor Mussolini to act as mediator with Herr Hitler. The Italian leader took up that role, arranged with the German ruler for a four-Power conference, and pending its decisions, mobilization plans in Germany have been postponed for twenty-four hours.

This result, which gives a new hope to a Europe on the brink of war, has been brought about through the attitude of Great Britain and France in the crisis. Both countries, acting in unison, have shown a stern determination, following the breakdown of the Berthegaden and Godesberg conferences, to meet the challenge of any aggression on the part of Germany in Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Chamberlain's radio address of Tuesday, with all its solemn significance and its implication that the British people cannot submit to being threatened, has had the effect of bringing to the consciousness of the European dictators a new outlook on the dangers they may encounter through contemplated aggression. Signor Mussolini, once appealed to, has instantaneously recognized the danger of the situation both for his own country and for the future of the Rome-Berlin axis. At the suggestion of Mr. Chamberlain he has assumed the role of mediator by persuading Herr Hitler to agree to a four-Power conference at which no doubt the Italian dictator's good offices will be used to bring about a settlement of the Sudeten issue designed to prevent it developing into a European conflict as far reaching as the Great War.

It is not Europe alone but the world that breathes easier today. The resumption of negotiations relieves a tension that had gripped all humanity. It is known now, beyond peradventure, that both France and Great Britain will not permit the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia through an invasion of that State. They are willing, since the Czechoslovakian Government is willing, that portions of the Sudeten area should pass into the hands of the Reich, but the process must be one of peaceful agreement, with the necessary safeguards provided to assure that Germany only acquires the territory stipulated. The occupation of the Sudeten area by force would be an act of war against Czechoslovakia, and this is what Great Britain and France are determined to resist. That is why both countries are engaged in preparations for the war that would ensue were the ultimatum of Herr Hitler implemented. It has been the determination of these two Powers that has led to the conference at Munich out of which there are hopes of a peaceful issue.

It is not the settlement of the Sudeten problem that is of the most far-reaching significance at this time. Herr Hitler has said that Germany will be satisfied with the acquisition of a Sudeten area and that she will have no further territorial ambitions in Europe. He can only speak for himself and his regime in this respect. He cannot forecast what German ambitions of the future may be, and his own role, like that of so many dictators, may prove of short duration. A main preoccupation at Munich, perhaps a prolonged one developing in further conferences of the Powers, will be to consider the future of national minorities in European States and what will be done to insure their claims not becoming the pretext for new alarms of war. The word of Herr Hitler is not enough to insure the peace of Europe. He doubted Mr. Chamberlain's assurance that Great Britain would see to it that Czechoslovakia's promise to cede the Sudeten area to Germany would be implemented by peaceful means. It is but axiomatic that other Powers should question Germany's good faith, especially after the re-militarization of the Rhineland and the bellicose attitude of Herr Hitler over the Sudeten issue that make any conditions of appeasement in Central Europe such as will have to be buttressed by ironbound guarantees. What should be the nature of these will take time to determine. The immediate hope of the Munich conference is that it will find a way out of the danger of international strife that has arisen over the Sudeten issue and that it will sow the seed of some future concert of the Powers that will at least minimize the menace of succeeding European crises.

Czechoslovakia, through its Prime Minister, has acknowledged with deep appreciation the efforts made by Mr. Chamberlain to avert war. It is conceivable that developments will place that State under a lasting obligation to Great Britain. In any case it is the head of the British Government more than any other individual who is playing the role of peacemaker in Europe. In doing so he is interpreting as well the character of the British people who remain undaunted in the face of any possible contingency. Throughout, Mr. Chamberlain has set his face unflinchingly against any conception that Germany can achieve international adjustments through the medium of war. She could only attempt to do so with Great Britain arrayed against her, and France as well, for the two Powers are as one in their attitude towards the Sudeten crisis.

A new chapter was written into the history of Europe when Mr. Neville Chamberlain became the spokesman for both Great Britain and France. He had behind him in his conversations at Berthegaden and Godesberg the might of the greatest naval and the greatest military nations on earth. He made no threat but simply told Herr Hitler that France and Great Britain were prepared to insure a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten problem. He left it to be understood, however, if only by the preparations being made by the two countries, that if the fateful hour heralded by Herr Hitler were to strike, and if Czechoslovakia were to be invaded, France and Great Britain would stand shoulder to shoulder and exert their strength and utilize all their resources to save the cause of democracy. The outcome is today's four-Power conference at Munich.

AN INTOLERABLE BURDEN

Probably the story of civic expenditure is much the same, proportionately speaking, in all municipalities as it is in Toronto. The Commissioner of Finance of that city has prepared a chart showing the divisions of expenditure out of every dollar raised by civic taxation. It appears that last year 34.3-4 cents went for education, 15.1-8 cents for social services, including direct unemployment relief; 13.3-8 cents for protection (police, fire services, etc.); 9.7-8 cents for health and sanitation; 7.2 cents for highways; 5.5-8 cents for the city's share of local improvements; 4.1-8 cents for deficits on special services, exhibitions, island ferries, etc.; 4.1-8 cents for parks; 2.3-8 cents for general administration; and 2.1-2 cents for libraries, interest, sundry unclassified debt charges and the cost of foreign exchange.

In commenting on this distribution of expenditure it is pointed out that real estate must bear the greatest share of the burden, so much so that this form of taxation is becoming unbearable. In fact, the Commissioner of Finance says that the burden has become so intolerable, "that home ownership is no longer a worthy ambition and a sound investment, but, as one of authority recently expressed it, 'a capital levy on real estate.'" As a means to ameliorate this condition the suggestion is put forward that "a fruitful source of additional revenue would be the exaction of a graduated poll tax upon the thousands of male and female tenants and boarders who make no contribution toward the cost of city government or social services." A graduated poll tax presumably means one based on income or wage. There is a suggestion here how municipalities may raise such income as will tend to relieve real estate of the burden it now bears, and, incidentally, the result would be to encourage home ownership anew and thus give a fillip to the construction industry in the Dominion.

ARYAN BLOOD AND

The purity of blood campaign introduced in Germany has spread to what was Austria, and is being symbolized in the "Object Matrimony" columns of the Viennese newspapers. An advertisement, appearing in Die Wiener Neuesten Nachrichten, reads as follows: "I wish to encounter a young woman, truly Nordic type, blue eyes, blond hair, strong constitution, impeccable heredity, well, healthy, height 5' 8" tall, age 20 years; absolutely pure in body, soul and race; of a large family if possible. I desire her to be courageous, patriotic, willing to share my joys and sorrows and those of our great country, whether it be here in the Fatherland, or in our colonies in southwest of Africa or our future new regions to the East. Above all I wish her to desire only her natural vocation—motherhood. Elementary instruction, but the capacity to work with head and hands, a good domestic sense, fidelity, enthusiasm, a warm heart and smiling mouth. Germanic blood and faith are more important than the knowledge of the names of books."

In return for these requirements in a future bride, the applicant offers: "manhood, height 5' 11", weight 180 pounds, age 31, eyes blue, hair blond, purity of race and body, honest character, fidelity to our Fuehrer and our nation."

A sneer is the weapon of the weak. Like other devices, it is always cunningly ready to our hand, and there is more poison in the handle than in the point.—Lowell.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

The world is growing small when you can bring the Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Chancellor of Germany, the President of Czechoslovakia, and quite a number of other people right into your living-room by merely pressing a button—so small that the effort to understand another is not only worthwhile but necessary. Despite anxious times, one cannot help but believe that such an exchange of views highly conflicting views will bring about good in the long run, world peoples will at least know what they do not agree upon, with some hope then that they may find ground upon which their several views will be brought slowly to a common plane. Meanwhile, the royal admonition to keep a cool head and a stout heart is the soundest of all advice. If the world shies away from war on this occasion, when the provocation was never more clearly marked, there is good hope that the precedent will be of supreme value to the world that lie ahead. As an assistance towards agreement, man should lay aside once and for all the name-calling device. He should abandon bluffs, as a dangerous resort. He should learn to state his real arguments first, and not last. He should, and some day must, be ready to yield a point out of his own case, even if it means a sacrifice. The world's machinery of understanding is comparatively new as yet. It has scarcely been run-in. It heats up quickly at the hearing of a word of friction; but it is infinitely better than the machinery of misunderstanding, now becoming obsolete. Give it time, and the machinery of understanding will run more smoothly; and then nations will be glad to enjoy the benefits, concurrently, of the peace and good will to which they are entitled.

Up along the banks of the North Thompson River you can see the frail platforms, mere triangles of lashed poles, upon which Indians stand to net their salmon. They are that rushing stream. In olden times there must have been a number of such airy lookout posts, hanging precariously over the tumbling rapids down below, and pegged to the solid face of the rocks. Today the platforms are few and far between, and still there, back of the lookout posts there are footholds cut in the rock, leading up to temporary camps on top of the bank; and over that again the great hills, and the multicolored panorama of a cloud-strewn sky. Look quickly at the scene and you would think that little had changed since olden times. There is the river, with its growing burden of silt. There are the fish stages and the camps; the hills and the clouds, the same as of old. Close inspection, however, robs the scene of its innocence, and leads to a confusion of sights which will not fit into the old-time picture at all. The hills on both sides of the river are broken down into flat ridges, each supporting a transcontinental railway. Dual lines of telegraph wires are strung across the valley. Above the railway on one side runs a trans-Provincial highway, occupying another ledge. Here are four means of communication, and the river, the first and most natural one, is not being used for that purpose. There are the fish stages and the camps; the hills and the clouds, the same as of old. Close inspection, however, robs the scene of its innocence, and leads to a confusion of sights which will not fit into the old-time picture at all. The hills on both sides of the river are broken down into flat ridges, each supporting a transcontinental railway. Dual lines of telegraph wires are strung across the valley. Above the railway on one side runs a trans-Provincial highway, occupying another ledge. Here are four means of communication, and the river, the first and most natural one, is not being used for that purpose. The platforms are few and far between, and still there, back of the lookout posts there are footholds cut in the rock, leading up to temporary camps on top of the bank; and over that again the great hills, and the multicolored panorama of a cloud-strewn sky. Look quickly at the scene and you would think that little had changed since olden times. There is the river, with its growing burden of silt. ## MARINE AND TRANSPORTATION

Western Canadian Air Mail Service Is Starting SaturdayInaugural Flights in Opposite Directions Between Vancouver and Winnipeg Will Mark Official
Opening of Trans-Canada Route

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (P)—Vancouver was ready today to celebrate the official inauguration Saturday of a regular air-mail service across Western Canada, an event that will bring Winnipeg within a half-day's flight from the Pacific Coast.

Trans-Canada Air Lines planes leaving Vancouver's Sea Island Airport at 7 p.m., P.S.T., and Winnipeg at 9:30 p.m., P.S.T., in opposite directions will make the inaugural flights. After stops at Lethbridge, Alta., and Regina, the planes respectively are scheduled to land in Winnipeg at 2:33 a.m., P.S.T., and at Vancouver at 5:22 a.m., P.S.T.

Departure of the plane to Winnipeg will touch off an "air week" celebration from October 1 to 8. And on that day, the Vancouver Senior Board of Trade's transportation and customs bureau will hear a luncheon address from George C. Wakeman, T.C.A. general traffic manager, on "Trans-Canada Air Lines Development and Its Significance in World Air Lines."

A Junior Board of Trade banquet will be held at Sea Island Airport Saturday night, just before the first regular plane departs.

MASS FLIGHT

Already air-conscious Vancouver citizens will be made more so Saturday afternoon by a mass flight of Royal Canadian Air Force planes over the city.

United Air Lines also is placing a new service out of Vancouver, October 1. Announcement has been made of their huge twenty-one-passenger "Mainliners" will run directly between Vancouver and Salt Lake City to hook up with their transcontinental service. This service, contrasting with the former "feeder line" to Seattle, will bring Vancouver within nineteen and one-half flying hours of New York.

REFUGEES SAIL
FOR AUSTRALIADriven From Germany and Austria, Sixty-Three Jews
Are Aboard Aorangi

Bound for a new land, where they hope to mend their broken homes in a freer and fuller life under the Union Jack, sixty-three German and Austrian refugees sailed from Victoria aboard the Canadian-Australasian, Aorangi last evening.

All were on their way to Australia. Members of the party appeared to be fairly well off, judging by their clothing and the jewelry exhibited by some of the women. According to officers of the ship, the majority possess considerable means, while the greater number speak good English.

Not all full-blooded Hebrews, there is a scattering of Catholic and Protestant religionists in the group. None cared to speak of the circumstances which have exiled them from their native lands. Some of them had to leave their German husbands and wives behind, possibly never to see them again.

The average age of the sixty-three voyagers leaving here last night would be about thirty. Some are older, some much younger. There are several babies, seven children under ten and some grandmothers. While the Aorangi was lying at the local dock, the travelers were met and warmly welcomed by prominent Jewish citizens of Victoria. They were taken for short drives, entertained in a variety of ways and speeded on their way with all good wishes for a new start in a British Dominion.

FREIGHT CHARGES ON WHEAT CARGOES SOAR

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28 (P)—Grain shipping companies here today announced freight rates for wheat from the Lakehead to Montreal had reached 71-2 cents a bushel, highest since 1928.

The advance reflected scarcity of boat space due to the heavy movement east.

EXPERIMENTAL
SHIP PLANNEDBritish Company Will Build
Fleet of Coal-Burners
If Successful

LONDON, Sept. 28 (P)—An experimental ship, costing approximately $500,000—about $400,000—will be built in Britain to demonstrate the advantages of coal as fuel.

With the moral support of the Admiralty, the undertaking is being promoted by interests represented on the Marine Development Committee, which has been examining possibilities of increasing in the national interest, use of coal for bunkering purposes.

The type of ship to be built will be in the cargo-and-intermediate-passenger liner class, considered to have the best chance of competing successfully with oil.

A company, to be formed if the experiment proves a success, will undertake construction of a fleet of similar vessels.

ORDER CALLS MORE TROOPS

ment of the Sudetenland crisis providing for "symbolic" occupation by Germany before Saturday of the undisputed Germanic sections, but with an international commission guaranteeing Czechoslovakia's frontiers pending adjustment of other areas.

SPECIALISTS CALLED
Premier Dandridge signed the new mobilization order after he had received the German invitation to go to Munich. The exact number of additional men called to the colors was not made known officially. They were men of Echelon Eight, consisting largely of specialists such as flame-throwers and anti-aircraft gunners.

They formed an important addition to the force of more than 200,000 men already summoned to arms by successive calls during the Czechoslovak crisis.

Announcement of the Munich conference nevertheless brought an evident feeling of relief to crowds in the streets who snatched copies of extra editions of newspapers telling of developments.

PARTY GAINS IN PROVINCE

Dr. J. D. Hunter Tells Ward Conservatives of Renewed Confidence Here

The Conservative party in British Columbia and in other parts of the Dominion had gained ground in recent months and with immediate and effective organization should be returned to power at Ottawa at the next Federal election, Dr. J. D. Hunter, M.P.P. for Victoria, told members of Ward Plus Conservative Association at their annual meeting last night.

Dr. Hunter paid tribute to Hon. Dr. Manion, Dominion leader, and to R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P. for Vancouver-Point Grey, recently appointed leader of the party for the province. He said there was everywhere renewed confidence in the party, but that organization was now the greatest need in order that the policies approved in party conventions be made known to the people.

HEALTH INSURANCE
The speaker outlined the work of the provincial convention and enumerated a number of the measures given approval by the delegates at Kamloops. He criticized the Pattullo administration for what he termed "wasteful expenditure of public funds in the present administration of affairs in connection with the Health Insurance Act."

Prior to Dr. Hunter's address, the election of officers for the ward took place and resulted as follows: Chairman, F. J. Popham; vice-chairman, W. C. Warner; secretary, Miss Alice White, and three members to represent the ward on the central executive, Hubert Lethaby, G. H. Bevan-Pritchard and W. Dale Johnson.

Before retiring, Hubert Lethaby, who was chairman of the ward for two years, reported on ward activities during his last term. He expressed thanks to the officers and members for their assistance and also pledged support to incoming officers. Mr. Lethaby was not candidate for re-election as chairman.

BIG CROWD ENJOYS SAANICH FALL FAIR

buildings recently destroyed by fire and the entire community on its splendid spirit and industry. There could be no real prosperity without an active agricultural population, and Saanich had this Mr. Whitaker declared.

LIFE-SAVING AWARDS
Reeve William Crook, speaking for the Saanich municipality, agreed that the community should be proud of its fair, and congratulated the directors on the quick replacement of its buildings.

An incident of major interest was the presentation by the Saanich life-saving certificates from the Royal Humane Society to William Robert Williamson, who had rescued Eric Edward Pearson from drowning in Brentwood Bay, and John Foy, who had rescued Robert Aspinall from similar fate at the Gorge Bridge. At a time when there were evidences internationally of hate, greed and selfishness, it was good to know that there were citizens ready to sacrifice their lives to help others.

Both speakers were introduced by George T. Michell, president of the agricultural society, who on behalf of the directors, and to the accompaniment of applause, thanked the Saanich and life departments for their splendid help in connection with the fair at this time, and the Provincial Government, Saanich municipality and the people of the district for their co-operation in connection with the rebuilding programme.

HAPPY THROING
Long before the formal opening, the grounds were filled with a happy throng, including hundreds of children already competing in the school sports programme, and the competitors in the Highland dancing and piping events. There were 300 entries in the school competitions, and twenty-five competitors entered for the various Highland events, three coming from Vancouver.

From mid-day onwards, too much interest centred in the judging of the Jerseys and other cattle.

SHEEPDOG TRIALS
For nearly an hour the fair grounds were deserted by a majority of the patrons who went to the adjacent field to watch the interesting sheepdog trials. Andrew Macfarlane, Coghlan, B.C., gave a fine demonstration of what can be done by well-trained dogs when he set his ten-year-old Scotch sheepdog, "Eddie," the task of rounding up and penning a flock of five sheep. Nephew of "Teller's Queen," who won the English national sheepdog trials three times, "Laddie" showed good training, obeying instantly his master's signal by voice, stick, or whistle. "Peggy," four years old, also did smart work. Old Country people accustomed to the workings of sheepdogs especially enjoyed the demonstration, and applauded appreciatively when the flock was finally penned, although a comical unheeded incident was the collapse of the pen and the immediate escape of the sheep.

SPECIAL CUPS
Among the most-coveted cups at the fair were those up for competition among the Jersey and other cattle-breeders. Because of what the movement represents in the future of Jersey-bred cattle in the district, a special interest centred in the entries from the Boys' and Girls' Jersey Heifer and Jersey Calf Clubs. There were nine in the former, and ten in the latter class. Douglas Lawson, Sidney, carried off the Mrs. A. J. B. Dewdney Silver Challenge Cup and miniature for best heifer exhibited by boy or girl.

Another major award in the Jersey class was the City of Victoria Challenge Cup, with miniature, for cow, with best R.O.P. record. This was won by A. W. Aylard, with forty-eight points for production, and thirty-four points for type. Mr. Aylard also won the Fordham-Johnson cup for best dairy herd; his purebred Jersey bull, Signalman's Chief, was the grand champion bull; and his Brackenhurst Oxford Janie was grand champion cow.

The trophy donated by Robert Simpson Co. Ltd. for best Holstein bull was won by Ralph Rendle, Cadboro Bay; and Ian Douglas' Signalman's Successor was ranked junior champion purebred Jersey bull.

HORSES
Judging of the cattle was done by Mr. Wainwright, Vancouver, assisted by Oliver Evans.

Horses are no longer the strong class of former years, and James Turner carried off practically all the prizes, including the Dr. F. Toimie Challenge Cup for best draft team. There were only twelve entries in this section, including agricultural teams, coils, single horses and brood mares.

There were less entries than last year in the sheep section, viz., seventeen. All, however, were of high quality. There were five entries in the dressed lamb class.

Rabbits, according to competent judges, made a much better showing than at the Victoria Fair. Poultry, although slightly down in numbers, showed exceptionally fine quality. Rhode Island Reds were the largest class with forty entries, this being about a quarter of the total entry. The championship for best male bird in the show was won by Arthur Adams with a White Leghorn cockerel. The ribbon for the best female bird in the show was won by a Rhode Island Red hen belonging to J. L. Lane, Breffort Estate. The new poultry house is a great improvement over the old.

In the swine section a new class was created to encourage boy and girl breeders. Although there was but one entry, the directors were confident that next year the competition would be much more keen. The ribbon for the best pig was won by a quarter of the total entry. The championship for best male pig was won by a quarter of the total entry.

The district maintains its fine record for eggs, and Mrs. Charles Spink, R.M.D. 3, took the championship ribbon for the best dozen white, as well as for the best three white, G. A. Harris, Colwood, winning the ribbon for the best dozen brown, W. Gallop, who was competing in the egg section for the first time, had the good fortune to win the championship ribbon for the best three dozen brown eggs.

The Barnevelder, which is now one of the established layers of the district, ranked in the number of brown eggs shown. To the practical dry season was attributed the falling off of entries in the egg section this year, the hens having "laid off" earlier than usual.

Damages Paid—Trouble in the steering mechanism caused an automobile driven by George Marshall, 2167 Lafayette Street, to leave the pavement on Collinson Street outside the St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Home at 8:50 o'clock yesterday morning. ## NAME IS SAME BUT NOT MAXIE

Max Baer Visits Victoria on Holiday From His Home In California

"Of course I could always change my name and save myself from answering a lot of questions. But then again, I was christened long before Max Baer was ever born and it's rather late to start changing now."

That was the smiling comment offered at the Empress Hotel yesterday to reporters who arrived to interview Max Baer, of Placerville, Calif., who reached Victoria yesterday on a brief vacation.

Definitely no relation to "Madcap Max," the former heavyweight champion prizefighter, although he came from the same district in the Sunshine State, Mr. Baer is a well-known merchant in the California lumber and mining town.

"Every year when I go on vacation with my wife and daughters, the story is the same. People in stations and hotels are invariably tracking me down. You are about the ninth person in Victoria that has made inquiries about me today," the businessman said. "And when I go to Vancouver tomorrow, I suppose the story will be the same there. But that's life, I guess."

VOTERS' LIST TO CLOSE ON FRIDAY

VULCAN, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP).—Parishioners of St. Barbara's Catholic Church restored their picket line to full strength tonight after returning Rev. Simon Borkowaky to the rectory from which an opposition group had removed him this morning.

For seven weeks the pickets have kept him a virtual prisoner to prevent his return to the Salvatorian Seminary at St. Nazianz, Wis., which recalled him.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (AP).—The Department of Public Works tonight announced award of the following contract: Union Bay, B.C. wharf extension and repairs, W. Stewart Construction Co. Ltd. and R. Bumstead, Vancouver, $5,151.

TOURIST HEAD VISITING CITY

Vice-President of Travel Bureau Says European Tours Unaffected

"The present threat of war in Europe is not affecting the tourist travel—for the main and simple reason that very few travelers ever make the Atlantic crossing in September anyway," N. C. Sneath, vice-president of the Raymond Whitcomb Travel Bureau, said on his arrival yesterday at the Empress Hotel. The firm is second in size to the famous Cook's bureau.

"Travel bureaus date their fiscal year from September 1 of one year to the following September, mainly because that month represents the lowest level of tourist volume during the entire run of the calendar," the travel executive stated.

The fact that the outlay on advertising made by travel companies throughout North America during the past month has dropped considerably was seen as a direct result of the seasonal slump and the present unsettled state in Europe.

"With the various legations ordering people back to their homelands in case of war, it would be rather foolish to pretend that conditions were normal for tourist travel. And especially during the slack season," Mr. Sneath smiled.

The major holiday attraction for Eastern Americans during the Summer months was cited as a European tour, while the bulk of the Winter tourist travel was limited to cruises in Southern waters, American travel and vacations in the Southern States, the executive stated.

"I only regret that I cannot spend longer in Victoria," Mr. Sneath said. "When I started out from New England I was in much the same position as the aviator Corrigan. I had to go East to get West," he added. Flood conditions in the Eastern States forced him to entrain for Montreal and to cross the continent via Canadian Pacific Railway routes. He will sail for Seattle on this afternoon's boat on his return trip.

MUCH JUBILATION AT NEWS OF CONFERENCE

I will go to Munich to see what I can do as a last effort—certainly warning that the danger was far from over.

But soon after making this statement to a House of Commons rocking with cheers, he shouted to a happy throng that hailed him outside 10 Downing Street.

"It's all right this time."

CHEERS FOR PRIME MINISTER

Britons who had been digging trenches and fitting out grotesque gas masks did not worry about the ominous ring to Mr. Chamberlain's reference to a "last effort." Rid of the tension of starting war in the face of a laughing and shouting "good old Nev."

In the early morning crowds began congregating in the neighborhood of the House of Parliament. Officers and women of all ages trooped into Whitehall recruiting stations nearby. Retired naval officers, former merchant marine skippers and officers who served with the fleet in the last war flocked to the Admiralty to offer their services. Many were grey-haired and round.

On every hand, in cities and in the country, there were grim evidence of war preparedness. Thousands of gas masks, depots and air raid shelters were rushed to completion.

Sandbags were put into place. Windows in homes, offices and factories were screened against air raids.

Meanwhile measures went ahead for the evacuation of women and children from London's congested areas. Many children reported to school carrying knapsacks and blankets. Thousands had already

A Charming Dress for Women

WONDERFUL NECKLINE—18 TO 50!

CHARMING dress of stone-blue wool-flocking crepe silk for all those important luncheon, bridge and tea engagements the Fall season brings forth. It has a wonderful flattering neckline and fullness through the bosom. The front gored skirt gives you height and grace. The pattern gives you another way to finish the neckline — as in smaller version. This short-sleeved version is most attractive in satin-back crepe. The tailored jacket reveals smart fabric through the lustrous side of the satin, with a faint touch of black embroidery. A few simple instruction chart accompanies this easy-to-follow pattern.

Style No. 2507 is designed for sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50-inch bust. Size 36 requires three and three-quarter yards of thirty-nine-inch material with one-half yard of lace.

marked by tactless lack of understanding, petty intolerance and discrimination to the point where resentment of the German population was inevitably moving in the direction of revolt.

Lord Runciman found a feeling in the Sudeten land that the Czechs would not keep their promises.

Economic conditions among the Sudetens had been bad for years and a feeling of hopelessness existed until the rise to power of the Nazi Government in Germany.

LARGE POLITICAL FORCE

"I cannot say how far this mistrust is merited or unmerited, but it certainly exists, with the result that however conciliatory their statements, they inspire no confidence in the minds of the Sudeten population," the report said. "Moreover, in the last elections of 1935 the Sudeten German party polled more votes than any other single party; and they actually formed the second largest party in the state Parliament."

"They then commanded some forty-four votes in a total Parliament of 300. With subsequent accessions they are now the largest party. But they can always be out-voted; and consequently some of them feel that constitutional action is useless for them."

LOCAL IRRITATIONS

"Local irritations were added to these major grievances. Czech officials and Czech police speaking little or no German were appointed in large numbers to purely German districts; Czech agricultural colonists were encouraged to settle on lands transferred under land reform in the middle of German population; for the children of these Czech invaders schools were built on a large scale; there is a very general belief that Czech firms were favored as against German firms in allocation of state contracts and that the state provided work and relief for Czechs more readily than for Germans."

"I believe these complaints to be in the main justified. Even as late as the time of my mission I could find no readiness on the part of the Czechoslovak Government to remedy them in anything like an adequate scale."

Dealing with "political aspects" of the problem, Lord Runciman said: "MUST BE ENTIRELY NEUTRAL."

"I believe that here the problem is one of removing a centre of intense political friction from the middle of Europe. For this purpose it is necessary permanently to provide that the Czechoslovak state should live in peace with all her neighbors and that her policy internally and externally should be directed to that end. Just as it is essential for the international position of Switzerland that her policy should be entirely neutral, so an analogous policy is necessary to Czechoslovakia not only for her own future existence but for the peace of Europe."

"In order to achieve this, I recommend: (1) That those parties and persons in Czechoslovakia who have been deliberately encouraging a policy of antagonism to Czechoslovakia's neighbors should be forbidden by the Czechoslovak Government to continue their agitation, and that if necessary legal measures should be taken to bring such agitation to an end."

NON-AGGRESSION PACTS

"(2) That the Czechoslovak Government should so remodel her foreign relations as to give assurances to her neighbors that she will in no circumstances attack them or enter into an aggressive action against them arising from obligations to other states."

"(3) That the principal powers acting in the interests of the peace of Europe should give to Czechoslovakia a guarantee of assistance in case of unprovoked aggression against her."

"(4) That a commercial treaty on preferential terms should be negotiated between Germany and Czechoslovakia if this seems advantageous to the economic interests of the two countries."

CUBS DEFEAT PIRATES TO MOVE INTO TOP PLACE

HARTNETT'S CIRCUIT DRIVE IN THE NINTH DECIDES 6-5 TUSSLE

veteran Catcher and Manager of Chicago Smashes Out Homer With Two Out in Final Frame and The Score Tied—Winners Half a Game Ahead—Last Game Scheduled Today

In the thickening gloom, with the score tied and two out in the ninth inning yesterday, red-faced Gaby Hartnett blasted out a home run to give his Chicago Cubs a dramatic 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and a half-game leadership in the National League.

The furious National League pennant battle, that is the story of one of the most sensational games ever played at Wrigley Field—a game which saw the fighting Cubs charge from behind to knot the score and then win to the left field bleachers to out the Pirates from the No. 1 position they had held since July 12.

Hartnett's circuit smash, coming off Mace Brown with the count two strikes and no balls, probably saved the Cub pennant chances. Had he failed, the game would have been called because of darkness, necessitating a double bill tomorrow which would have almost insurmountably handicapped the over-taxed Cub pitching staff.

The Cub manager, whose team was nine games out of first place a little more than a month ago, had to fight his way through a swirling, hysterical mob to touch all the bases, and had trouble reaching the dugout. He called the victory and his hit "the greatest thing that ever happened to me in my life."

At Boston, Ira Hutchinson pitched the Boston Bees to a 3-1 victory over the Phillies in Boston's final National League game of the season, recording his ninth victory and giving his club a sweep of the three-game series.

CINCY REDS BEATEN
In the only other game of the senior circuit, Johnny Mize, St. Louis Cardinal first baseman, belted out three hits to move into first position in National League batting and help the Cards beat Cincinnati, 8 to 7.

Ernie Lombardi, Reds' catcher, who was displaced from the league leadership, collected a double and single in five times at bat to stay on Mize's heels with 3368 to 3392.

A hit and two errors helped the Cubs to a run in the second, and with Clay Bryant pitching masterfully, stayed in front until the sixth. Then the Pirates, combining Johnny Rizzo's twenty-first homer of the season with two other hits and a pair of walks, chased Bryant with a three-run blast, Jack Russell replacing Bryant.

The Bruins came roaring right back to tie the score in their half of the inning on doubles by Hartnett and Rip Collins, and a bunt which Billy Jurges beat out for a hit.

In the seventh, a furiously disputed double play pulled the Cubs out of another hole. The Pirates charged Vance Page, who had replaced Russell, had committed a balk on the pitch Rizzo hit into the double-killing, but succeeded only in using up time as darkness gathered.

The Pirates, battling desperately, went back to work in the eighth. Ark Vaughan walked and Gus Suhr singled. Larry French replaced Page. Heinie Manush batted for Pop Young and singled, scoring Vaughan. Big Bill Lee, who finished yesterday's game, went in for French and was greeted by Lee Handley's single, which scored Suhr. Manush was nailed at the plate when Al Todd grounded to Jurges, but after Lee wild-pitched Handley to third, Lee restored order by forcing Bob Klinger to hit into a double play.

Collins opened the Cub eighth with a single, which sent Klinger to the showers. Bill Swift taking his place, Jurges walked and Tony Lazzari, former Yankee star, slashed a pinch double to right, scoring Collins and putting Jurges on third. Hack was passed and Herman singled, scoring Jurges with the tying run. However, on the play Joe Marty, running for Lazzari, was out at the plate. Paul Waner to Todd. Mace Brown replaced Swift and forced Demaree to hit into a double play.

ROOT FINISHES
Charley Root pitched for the Cubs in the ninth and held the Pirates to one hit, a single by Paul Waner. Cavaretta and Reynolds were easy outs before Hartnett won the battle and put his team on top for the first time since June 8. It was the Cubs' ninth straight victory and their nineteenth in their last twenty-two games.

Tomorrow, in the concluding game of a thrill-packed series, Lee will be Hartnett's pitching hope, with the sizzling Pirates banking on Russ.

The Yankees, after winning two straight games, went back into the hitting doldrums and dropped a 4-1 American League baseball decision to Washington Senators.

Joe Kraskauskas, southpaw youngster from Hamilton, Ont., limbered the pennant winners to five wins with two other hits and a

Chicago Golfer 'Ends Marathon; Played 600 Holes'

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 28. (AP)—Utterly exhausted as he sank the final putt, J. Smith Perbee, Chicago's golfing broker, finished his transcontinental golf tour of 600 holes at the Salisbury Country Club at 10:30 tonight, an hour and a half before the four-day time limit of his bet expired. Perbee played two rounds of 96 and 92 this afternoon. Then, accompanied by a fire truck laden with searchlights and $100 worth of flares, went on to shoot the last two eighteen-hole rounds in 94 and 96 tonight to finish well within the maximum of 100 strokes per eighteen-hole round.

The rounds finished a four-day tour in which Perbee visited eight cities by plane and scored all the way from 72 to a high of 99. By completing the tour with no eighteen-hole score of 100, Perbee wins bets of about $10,000 cash and a mortgage on a house which he values at $50,000.

Boston Red Sox defeated the Athletics, 2-1, for a clean sweep of their two-game series.

Jimmy Dykes' White Sox downed Cleveland, 14-1, and virtually eliminated the Indians from second-place consideration. The result left Cleveland three full games behind Boston Red Sox.

Hank Greenberg, needing two more home runs to tie Babe Ruth's major league record of sixty, went hitless as his Detroit Tiger teammates batted out a 12-0 victory over St. Louis Browns.

SEABISCUIT VICTORIOUS IN HANDICAP
Scores Sensational Win in $10,000 Race After Being Badly Bumped

DETROIT, Sept. 28. (AP)—Roscoe Toles, Detroit negro heavyweight, scored a technical knockout victory over Jimmy Adamick, young Midland (Mich.) battler, in the second round of their scheduled ten-round engagement at Olympia Stadium tonight.

Down four times and hopelessly outclassed in the first round, Adamick was knocked cold by a terrific right-hand punch delivered forty seconds after the second round got under way. Referee Clarence Rosen did not even start a count, summoning Adamick's handlers to come to his rescue.

Adamick weighed 186 and his opponent ten pounds more.

When Adamick failed to revive after five minutes of work by his handlers, he was carried from the ring to the dressing-room and physicians were summoned. Referee Rosen said that, in his opinion, Adamick was in a critical condition.

Hit so hard that George Woolf, jockey from Cardston, Alta., said later he thought his mount was going down, Seabiscuit regained his stride to drive to a two and one-half-length triumph over W. L. Bram's Savage Beauty, a 116 to 1 shot, with Hal Price Headley's Menow a length and a half behind, third in the field of eight.

Seabiscuit, the favorite, paid $3.10 for $2 in the mutuels, with Savage Beauty repaying $33.00 and Menow $3.50. By adding $8.175 to his earnings, Seabiscuit boosted his total to $176,753 for the year and his grand total to $322,980, a notch closer to the all-time record for money-winning held by Sun Beau at $376,744.

Ada Mackenzie Has Sensational Round On Eastern Course

Toronto Shotmaker Shoots an Amazing 73 for New Record as Play Starts in Inter-Provincial Team Match at Ottawa—Ontario Leads—British Columbians in Third Place

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, shattered par by three strokes today and led the Ontario team to a first-round victory in the international team match for the Canadian women's golf championship at Royal Ottawa Golf Club.

Five times winner of the Canadian women's open title, Miss Mackenzie shot an amazing 73 through a drizzling rain to establish a new course record for women's tournament play. Women's par is 76. The course record previously was 78, held by Mrs. W. G. Fraser, of Ottawa, member of the Quebec team, who had the second best score for the opening team play match with an 81.

Miss Mackenzie said she completed twelve greens and "it's the best score I ever made in a tournament."

She had birdies on the eighth, ninth, twelfth and seventeenth, and was over par on only the long par-5 first hole, where she took a six.

The thirty-six-hole medal match will conclude tomorrow. The team with the lowest gross score for the thirty-six holes will be the winner in the six-team field.

HOLDS THE LEAD
Ontario, with a total for the first eighteen of 332, held a narrow margin of four strokes over the defending titlist, Quebec, which had 336.

The British Columbia team was third after eighteen holes, with a total of 357 and Manitoba fourth with 364. The inter-sectional team made up of four Western players, was in fifth place with 365, and the team from the Maritime Provinces was last with 392.

Mrs. R. W. Renwick, of Vancouver, led the British Columbia team with an 86, and Mrs. Douglas Laird, of Winnipeg, was low scorer for the Manitoba aggregation with an 84.

Best player in the inter-sectional team was Fatty Arnold, of Calgary, with a round of 86, while Marg Eason, the seventeen-year-old Rose- town, Sask., girl, youngest in the tournament, ran into tough luck and took a 93.

Bob Spaven Breaks Leg During Soccer Game at Enclosure

Victoria City Inside Left Victim of Accident in Match Against the Navy as Season Gets Under Way—Spencers Defeat Hudson's Bay, 1-0

The first casualty of the Fall soccer season in Victoria, Robert "Bob" Spaven, 1023 Pandora Avenue, inside left for the Victoria City Wednesday League team, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital from the Royal Athletic Park late yesterday afternoon, where his teammates held the Navy aggregation to a 3-3 tie.

Leading the attack on the Navy goal late in the first half, Spaven shot one powerful kick past Alex Ross, and in the ensuing scrimmage in front of the sailors' net he sustained his injury when he slashed at a dead ball at the same time that the Navy left back, Archie Kennedy, booted the sphere from the opposite side. The impact broke both the tibia and fibula cleanly just below Spaven's left knee. The accident will render the former Bapco player inactive for six or eight weeks. Dr. F. M. Bryant, the attending physician, stated last night.

After an early Navy attack failed to break through, Malcolm McBride sank the first counter for the City a few minutes after the start of the game. Four minutes later, W. Walker, outside left for the Navy, sent a pass to F. Wells, who booted the sphere past the City goalie, Charlie Sadler, to tie the score.

ACCIDENT HAPPENS
A minute later Bob Spaven rang up another marker for the City when he tricked the Navy goalie out of position. Seconds later Spaven was carried off the field on a stretcher after splints had been strapped to his broken leg by attending St. John Ambulance men. On the resumption of play a powerful shot from the toe of Cecil Cockrill, Navy centre half, eluded Charlie Sadler to bring the score to 2-2. Just before the end of the first half, the City team again took the lead after minutes of see-saw play when Gordie "Baldy" Roskamp sank another into the Navy net.

Switching from goal position to inside right at half-time, Alex Ross lofted another sailor goal past Badier after four minutes of play.

NORTH SHORE IN GRID WIN, 12-0

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—The North Shore Lions took to the air with an amazing forward-passing system tonight to humble the once-powerful Maroons, 12-0, in a Big Four Canadian Rugby League fixture. The result left them tied with University of British Columbia, who defeated Knights of Columbus, 8-3, in the opening league game of the season last Saturday.

Harry Bullock threw a thirty-yard pass to Garney Smith in the first quarter, and the latter raced twenty yards for a touchdown that went unconverted.

After a scoreless second quarter, Harry Bullock tossed a forty-yard pass to Johnny Smith, standing on the Maroons goal line, another major score. It was not until the Vic McKennie kicked the ball from the thirty-five-yard line to the two-yard line, and paved the way for North Shore to score a safety touch when Maroons fumbled in the last quarter.

Senior Lacrosse Series to Start Friday Evening

THE opening game of the senior city box lacrosse championship between the Oakland and Conservative squads will take place tomorrow evening at the Royal Athletic Park under floodlights at 8:30. It was announced yesterday. A preliminary game will be run off between the Oakland juniors and the Owl Druze, commencing at 7:30. With the two senior clubs in good condition and eagerly waiting for the whistle, a hard-fought match is expected from beginning to end.

SIX ELEVEN IN FOOTBALL

Navy and Longshoremen
Enter Intermediate League
—To Open Oct. 8

With the Navy and Longshoremen filling entries, a six-team circuit will operate this season in the Intermediate Football League. Secretary Fred Oliver announced after last night's meeting in The Colonist board room. Other clubs in the league are the Young Liberals, last season's champions, Camerons, Cooperage and Caves.

The opening matches will be played on October 8, and the draw follows: Navy vs. Caves, Camerons vs. Cooperage, Liberals vs. Longshoremen. The grounds will be announced later. Cup matches will start on October 26, with the Lewis Hall Trophy being the first. Entries for this competition must be in the hands of the secretary by 6 o'clock on October 26.

Alex Robertson, Victoria's representative to the British Columbia Football Commission, attended the meeting and spoke in general. Representatives from the Wednesday League also attended.

Letters to the Editor

ELKS CLUB REPLIES

Sir:—In answer to a letter in The Colonist regarding a franchise in the Inter-City Soccer League:

1. The three men mentioned were not a delegation from the Elks Football Club.

2. Victoria United had been notified that one of the conditions upon which they might be offered a franchise was that they appoint as president and secretary of the Victoria District League neutral men, and as manager of the United team another unattached man.

Thereupon Messrs. Yoxall, Bloomfield and Hall offered their services, pointing out that, as they understood, affiliations must be applied for by 7:30 o'clock on Monday evening, they would like an answer by that time.

3. They also reminded Mr. Meesher that the majority of last year's United team were behind the Elks Club.

4. The use of the word "ultimatum" is unwarranted, and once more the Elks F.C. wishes to assert that its sole aim is to provide better football and a worthy entry into the Dominion championship.

Exalted Ruler, B.P.O. Elks, Victoria Lodge No. 2, Victoria, B.C., September 28, 1938.

Soccer Activities

A meeting of the Young Liberals football team will be held in the Liberal headquarters tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. All players and others interested are asked to attend.

ENGLISH RUGBY

LONDON, Sept. 28—Results of English Rugby games played today follow:

Bradford 18, Hunslet 0.

LANCASHIRE C.A.P.—(Sams)—(Finlay) Wigan 13, Liverpool 9.

TOM CLANCY PASSES

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—Thomas Francis Clancy, 65, outstanding among all centre scrummers played in the days when Rugby championship came regularly to Ottawa, died yesterday at his home. He was the father of Frank Clancy, noted hockey player, and was the original "King" Clancy of the Canadian sport world. His son also is known as "King" Clancy.

Badminton Meeting

The adjourned annual general meeting of the Garrison Badminton Club will be held this evening at 8:15 o'clock in The Colonist board room. All members are asked to make an effort to attend.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just clogs in the bowels, clings there up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes three good, solid Carra's Little Liver Pills to get those pounds of bile flowing freely and make you up and up. Harmonize and gently take the bile flow freely. They do the work of nature but have no caloric or mercury in them. Ask for Carra's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Jane Dixon Says:

A MAN WRITES THAT HE IS VERY MUCH DISTURBED BECAUSE HIS WIFE'S SOCIAL AMBITIONS ARE FAR BEYOND HIS MEANS

A husband has written to say that his wife insists upon wearing the high hat, or living in a state he cannot afford. He has explained his finances to her, has tried to show her the scale of living she demands will land them in Debtors' Row instead of in the exclusive circle she hopes to crash. She will have none of his facts, none of his figures. She says he is simply stubborn and stagnant, so she'll furnish the ambition for the family.

What, he wants to know, can he do about it?

My Dear Jane Dixon: Recently my wife had decided the house we live in is a "dump"; that "We'll never get any place living in such a cheap neighborhood"; that "We're going to move in with the real people and prove we're one of them."

I'll admit our house is a long way from a palace, but it is modern, comfortable and plenty large enough for our family. It is not on The Hill where the wealthy folks live, but in a clean, respectable street lined with the homes of honest working people. We have the finest kind of neighbors, friendly and helpful.

Our children are still young, the eldest six years, so they haven't put a society bee in their mother's high hat. So far as I know she isn't on calling terms with any of what she calls the "real people" on The Hill. It would cost more than half my wages to rent even the simplest place in that district, and it takes no economic wizard to know that half of a man's income is too much to pay for rent.

My wife says we have to better ourselves for the children's sake, but my opinion is if we really want to build up for their future we'll stay where we are and try to save money for their education.

It has reached the point where I dread to go home and listen to her rave about "this cheap house" and "these common people." What can a man do in such a pickle?—J.T.Y.

Comment: He can tell his wife to "sien off" and mince no words in the telling. He can tell her that if she moves to The Hill or any other place beyond his means she moves alone and foots the bill, that he and the children will remain where they are and stay solvent. He will tell her people are real because of what they are, not because of who they are or where they live. He can tell her if she does not stop her nonsense and her nagging he will stay out of earshot and she can talk to herself. What is more, he'll do it.

You are right about your children. They'll never be graduated from school or college because they have a good street address.

"THREE LOVES, HAS NANCY"

At the Theatres

FIERY ACTRESS IS ON PLAZA SCREEN

Lupe Velez Has Leading Role With Wallace Ford in "He Loved An Actress"

"He Loved An Actress," the new William Rowland musical production which will open today at the Plaza Theatre for a three-day run, brings the fiery Lupe Velez to the screen in a hectic, hilarious role. Lupe, a rumba dancer, tires of her rhythmic wriggles and pawns herself off on an unsuspecting public as a millonair. But, when this heiress chooses a press agent full of hot air, things begin to happen. "He Loved An Actress" was directed by Melville Brown.

Besides Lupe Velez, the cast also includes Wallace Ford, Ben Lyon, Jean Colin and Harry Langdon.

'COCONUT GROVE' AT THE OAK BAY

New Song Hits Featured in Film With Fred MacMurray and Harriet Hilliard

Two new song hits from the pen of Harry Owens, the man who gave the screen last year's "Sweet Lullaby," are incorporated in the score of the Fred MacMurray vehicle, "Coconut Grove," which will open today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The new tunes are "Dreamy Hawaiian Moon" and "Coconut Grove," both delivered by Owens Royal Hawaiian Orchestra. MacMurray and Harriet Hilliard, radio songstress, do the honors on the stage. The film is a comedy, "Says My Heart" by Lane and Loesser.

RUSTLERS ROUTED BY GENE AUTRY

"Public Cowboy No. 1" at Columbia Theatre Presents Star as Upholder of the Law

No more fitting title could be chosen for Gene Autry's current Republic vehicle than "Public Cowboy No. 1." This picture, which will open today at the Columbia Theatre, presents Gene as an ultra-modern cowboy who uses streamlined technique in detecting and apprehending modern cattle rustlers.

Mere horseflesh has to contend with airplanes and high powered refrigerators in the cattle rustling war, but it's not difficult to guess which emerges the victor, even before one sits through an hour of absorbing and highly dramatic entertainment.

Besides being the funniest show in town, Joe E. Brown's "The Gladiator," which will close today at the Dominion Theatre, boasts the most unusual comedy idea that ever survived a Hollywood story conference. It deserves to be called nothing less than terrific.

An ultra-modern story of a "quadrangle" supplants the age-old tale of the triangle in a new, bright and breezy comedy. It is "Three Loves Has Nancy," dedicated to hilarity and which will close today at the Capitol Theatre.

Harold Lloyd in "Professor Beware," which will end today at the Atlas Theatre, is aided by a sterling cast that includes Phyllis Welch, Lionel Stander and Cora Witherspoon. He plays the role of an absent-minded professor whose desire to help anybody in trouble gets him into plenty of hot water.

Dominion—Joe E. Brown in "The Gladiator."

Oak Bay—Fred MacMurray in "Coconut Grove."

"DAMAGED GOODS" IS POWERFUL PICTURE

"Damaged Goods," which will open Monday at the Plaza Theatre, is a plea for light on a hidden danger, a warning that a terrible price will be exacted, not only from those who break the inexorable laws of Nature, but will also exact a terrible toll from the generations to come.

This picture, the adaptation of which Producer Phil Goldstone entrusted to the trenchant, crusading pen of Upton Sinclair, paints the truth so frankly and with such clean, artistic force that the mind is impressed as it could possibly be impressed in no other way.

RELIEF LISTS ARE WHITTLED

Approximately 8,000 Individuals Transferred to Welfare Lists in B.C.

Approximately 8,000 individuals, including dependents, have been taken off relief lists throughout the province in the last few months, and transferred to "welfare" lists in both provincial and municipal areas, it was conceded yesterday by the Provincial Relief Branch of the Department of Labor.

With this adjustment, relief rolls for the month of August totaled 46,749 names, of which 10,523 were heads of families, 29,677 dependents, and 6,549 single men. With welfare cases included, the gross total was 54,571 names, compared with 46,760 individuals in the corresponding month last year.

Between July and August this year, however, there was a drop in relief lists, from 48,593 cases in July to 46,749 in August, relief officials said.

The actual members transferred to welfare lists were 7,822 individuals, including some dependents. What proportion of these cases became municipal charges could not immediately be ascertained.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Punk (R.) vs. Pinkerton et al. (A.)

INJECTING ETHER UP INTO LOWER BOWEL TO STOP ASTHMATIC ATTACKS

"Suddenly, in the early hours of the morning in the vast majority of cases that occur in adults—children are not as apt to be attacked at night—great tightness of the chest, and more or less marked asphyxia in the region of the breast bone occurs. The breathlessness in bad cases is most severe, the breathing is wheezing in mild cases, but can scarcely be heard in the more serious type. The suffering of such cases is intense, the patient calls all kinds of positions to help him get his breath, there is pronounced of the eyeballs, the blood-vessels in the neck stand out and there is blueness of the lips; the skin is clammy and covered with sweat. After a period varying from a half hour to several hours, the attack ends and the patient coughs up from his bronchial tube some stringy mucus."

The above is a description of an attack of asthma as recorded in Sjaajous' Analytic Cyclopedia of Practical Medicine.

In treating asthma the physician is at first concerned about stopping lack of asthma that cannot be stopped by the usual means. About five to seven ounces of equal parts of ether and olive oil is slowly injected up into the lower bowel over a period of twenty minutes. In children, one to two ounces of the mixture is all that is required. No cleansing enema is given in any case. Relief from asthma by this simple method has lasted for weeks and sometimes for months. During the weeks or months the patient is free from attacks following the ether treatment, the physician has opportunity to look for the cause of asthma which may be allergy (being sensitive to various foods and other substances), decrease of nose and throat or others.

Guarding Against Tying up Capital

PARIS, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Finance Ministry decreed today a limitation of the right of protest on commercial debts.

Declaring it was drafted expressly to avoid the possibility of a moratorium, the Finance Ministry said the decree was designed solely to avoid capital being tied up in suits against debtors who manifestly were unable to pay.
